Alumna experience

Karin van der Velde (NL)

"I followed a placement in the Health and AIDS Department of the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs. That is where I became familiar with CHOICE for Youth and Sexuality, an organization where I worked as a volunteer for years. In those days, I had the privilege of travelling a lot, to UN meetings in New York and Geneva, and of teaching international training courses to young people.

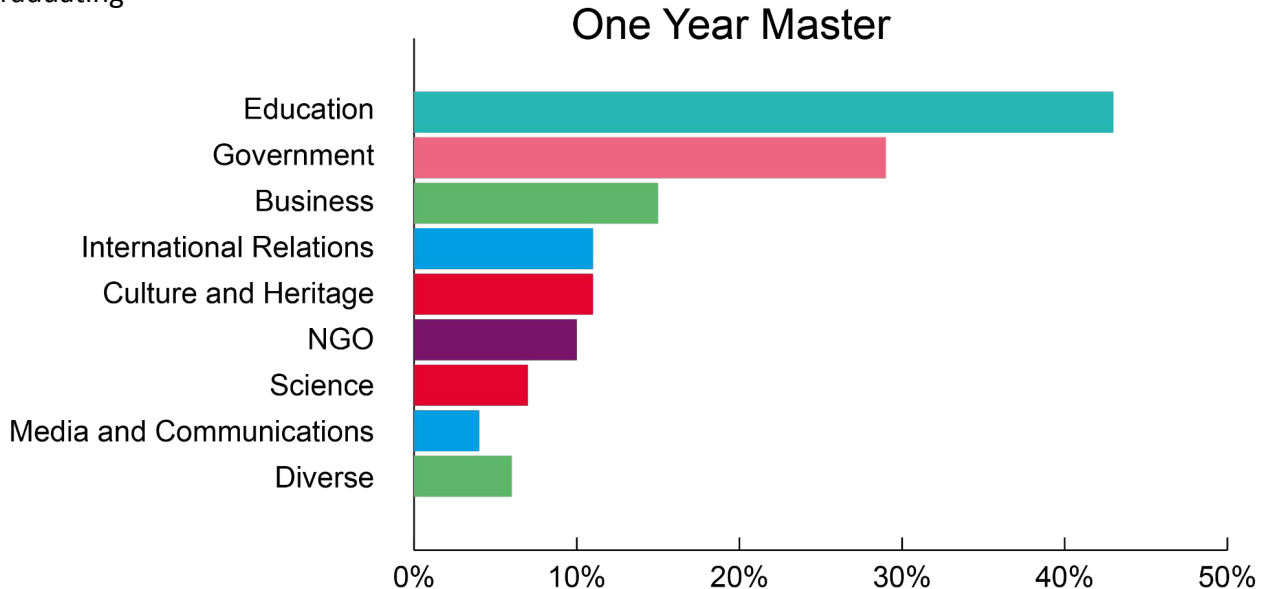

Currently, I work as programme officer and youth participation advisor at Rutgers, a knowledge centre committed to the sexual and reproductive health and rights of young people around the globe. I have regular contact with four partner organizations in Uganda, two in Malawi and with the Rutgers country office in Indonesia. "

After Graduation

Of the alumni of the Faculty of Religion, Culture and Society, 80% find a job within half a year, and 95% within a year (96% of them have a job on at least bachelor's level)

Check our alumni page for more examples of positions our alumni end up in after graduating

Please note: the results mentioned above are based on a survey carried out in 2021, and consider all alumni of the one year MA programme in Theology and Religious Studies. There is no data available yet for the track Religion, Conflict and Globalization.
