Best Practices

Don't forget to use a USB headset. This is important while completing lessons and especially while attending Live Tutoring sessions. The correct headset will ensure that you get the best feedback on your speaking skills.

Practice a little bit every day to keep everything you're learning fresh in your mind! We recommend that you practice in the program for 30 minutes, 3-5 times per week.

Schedule practice time on your calendar. This will help you remember to get those 30 minutes in, and ensure that learning with Rosetta Stone becomes a part of your daily routine.

Find a language partner in your organization or in your community. Learn and practice your new vocabulary together.

Immerse yourself in your new language. Look for opportunities to practice your language skills outside of the program. This could be reading news and articles, listening to music, or watching movies in your new language. Full immersion is the key!
